After meeting all the expectations at SSD2025 event, we call for cooperation to grow the SSD2026 impact in the Baltic Sea region

The SSD 2025 event was supported by Minister of Defence of the Republic of Estonia and it turned out to be a success with positive feedback from exhibitors and professional visitors.

To the 2026 event welcome entrepreneurs and public sector representatives to study the recent technologies for providing security. We will learn from each other and share experiences for preparedness for crisis. We'll focus on regional collaboration, aiming to get to know each other, so that in potentially hard times we can act faster and in an organized way by helping each other out from difficult situations. We will study practical solutions to be updated with recent information about technologies, products and services.

Our related conference is packed with insights by distinguished policymakers, analysts, politicians, military officials and academia from around the globe. Key foreign and security policy issues proceed to discuss the perspective of the northern and eastern parts of Europe; entrepreneurs provide technologies to grow our confidence in security.

SSD THEMES

Preparedness

It takes multiple disciplines to work together in case a crisis rolls out. What can be made in advance to have a minimum loss? What can be done for fast resilience? What is the paperwork, what can be done in advance to meet the unexpected situation? How should the best suppliers be aligned for handling the situation? What are the communication lines and duties of the responsible experts and employees, how to stay in control of developments?

Regional approach

We'll take time to discuss with lawyers and experienced officials, who have gone through challenging situations. We'll make a comparison on the legal frameworks, valid in different countries located around the Baltic Sea. We will learn the rights and restrictions for moving life-critical resources over the country borders.

Defence, rescue, sourcing technologies

We expect entrepreneurs to present their latest solutions to government representatives to introduce the competitiveness of their products and services. Producers and developers planning production facilities or deploying their solutions are welcomed to discuss their value adding features with decisionmakers. Sharing the functional information will help procurement specialists to request for the best. Our unique location enables to present maritime technologies.

Energy supply

We'll discuss the potential challenges, connected to the possible disruptions of the energy grid. What are the strategies to supply liquid fuels, gas or other energy carriers to keep critical functions working. Which companies have enough resources to provide support at changes in the ordinary working patterns?

Feedback from 2025 event builds the ground for 2026

The feedback from 2025 SSD Expo was positive. The participants got new connections and business opportunities with a promise to return in 2026. Manufacturers, who participated the first year as visitors will join us next year with exhibition booths.
